Short News Stories From All Over Virginia

RESIGNATION ASKED FOR.

Superintendent of Street Cleaning Department.—Norfolk, Va., April 19.—As a result of the continued criticism and complaints heaped upon the head of R. F. Rogers, superintendent of street cleaning in Norfolk, the Board of Control yesterday asked that officer to present his resignation in writing, following his verbal resignation which was made on March 15.

This ends a long fight against the Rogers administration in the street cleaning department since his predecessor, H. Farquharson, was removed to make room for Mr. Rogers in the face of a petition signed by scores of prominent business men of the city. That Mr. Farquharson got a very favorable deal in the contest, and because of this Mr. Rogers met with a deep-seated prejudice from many sources as he took charge of the office.

Particularly in the past few months have complaints about the condition of the streets been before the Board of Control, and many have sought to hold the controllers responsible for what they considered a shoddy performance of the street cleaning department. Of these complaints the Board of Control since the matter has been brought up on the floor of the council several times.

It was on March 11 that Mr. Rogers was before the controllers about the condition of the streets, and he was told to make a better showing. He is reported to have told the board that he was not satisfied with the arrangement under which he was working and would resign his place. The resignation will not become effective until May 1.

SENT TO THE COUNTRY.

Salvation Army Comes to the Aid of an Unfortunate Family.—Lynchburg, Va., April 19.—After experiencing much suffering and sickness in the family of Ed Camden was yesterday placed on a train by the Salvation Army, where the army has obtained him a position in the South. The family of Camden, who are now in the country, are very grateful to the Salvation Army, which has been able to obtain for them a position in the South. TO REMODEL OLD COURTHOUSE.

Namessond County Board of Supervisors.—Suffolk, Va., April 19.—The Namessond County Board of Supervisors, Ed Brinkley, chairman, George T. Rawls, W. C. Moore, W. Quinton Peels, with Commonwealth's Attorney George Bunting, Everett and County Clerk H. H. Bunting, met yesterday afternoon to consider the plans for remodeling the county courthouse, which is now in a state of disrepair. The board of supervisors has been asked to attend the Peace Convention at Gettysburg in July.

The board decided unanimously to pay the expenses of any Confederate veterans of Namessond County who care to attend, and Chairman E. D. Bunting, Cyrene Chapel, Va., wishes any who care to go to file their names and addresses with him.

FAVORABLY IMPRESSED.

Post-Office Inspector Investigating Mail Delivery in Salem.—Salem, Va., April 19.—Inspector Dixon, of the Post-Office Department, was in Salem a few days ago making a personal examination to determine the practicability of establishing free mail delivery here. Postmaster Joyce accompanied him on a thorough inspection of every street in Salem, and the conclusion of his inspection was that the admirably adapted to economical delivery, and indicated his intention of recommending the establishment of the system at an early date.

Mr. Dixon was particularly impressed with the beauty and attractiveness of Salem as a residential town, and he practically decided to move his family here if he can secure a suitable home.

MAY COMPLETE WATER SYSTEM.

Next Great Improvement Likely to Be Undertaken in Scottsville.—Scottsville, Va., April 19.—It seems that the next great improvement in this town will be the completion of the water system. Before the streets were put down last summer it was decided by the board of supervisors that the water system should be completed. The water system was put down last summer, and the board of supervisors has been asked to attend the Peace Convention at Gettysburg in July.

TO MAP OUT PLANS FOR ANNEXATION

Special Committee to Begin Active Work To-Morrow Afternoon.

WILL VISIT EAST END FIRST

Want to Get Familiar With Localities Before Deciding on Corporate Limits.

A systematic tour of the suburbs of Richmond and of the area proposed for annexation will be undertaken by the Special Committee on Annexation beginning to-morrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Chairman Joseph E. Powers has invited the committee to accompany him to the city limits, and motor cars will be provided. The offer of certain real estate agents to supply cars was declined, the committee declaring that it would proceed unhampered by any obligation, and the city will bear the necessary expenses.

The inspection will begin at the eastern limits of the city at the north end of James River. The party will visit the Richmond Cedar Works, now just outside the corporate limits, and the fertilizer and other works lower down, especially with a view of acquiring city control of the river front as far as may be found desirable.

In East End, with maps to show the present city limits, the committee will then go a short distance out the Osborne Turnpike, to look over the territory and get some idea of how far the corporate limits should be extended at that point. Erin Street, and the Williamsburg Turnpike will be similarly examined until the committee finds itself on Fulton Hill, when a run will be taken across to the National Cemetery and back along the Government Road, and thence along the outmost limits of the city to Oakwood Cemetery.

Just how much ground it will be possible to cover in one afternoon cannot be determined in advance, but the committee proposes to continue the tour until the entire city has been girdled, and the members have a comprehensive understanding of conditions which will enable them to understand the maps and discuss intelligently the various plans that may be presented. Passing through the section just beyond Fairmount, the committee will take some time to examine the inspection of the boundaries of the present towns of Highland Park and Barton Heights, and in examining the whole territory surrounding the State Fair grounds and along the Belt Line Railroad, just beyond the western corporate limits.

In the Southside, a special trip will be made to the Southside to examine Woodland Heights, Oak Grove, Swansboro and other settlements just beyond the boundaries of the old city of Manchester, where a considerable population is living. While on the ground in the various localities, the committee will point out the advantages of making the new lines conform to the natural watersheds in order to simplify the problems of drainage and sewer construction, rather than by zigzagging the lines all about to meet individual wishes, as was done in 1906 when the last general annexation took place.

Recalling that the lines were so drawn in 1906, the committee will draw in 1913 to examine the Locomotive Works and other manufacturing plants along the Hermitage Road, and at other points, although they enjoy the use of city water, fire and police protection, and frequent calls for the city ambulances. A member of the committee said yesterday that the lines this time would be drawn so far beyond all of these plants that they will have the face of the Chamber of Commerce will put the Locomotive Works a mile within the corporate limits, instead of being just over the border.

With sentiment in the city practically a unit in favor of a liberal annexation, members of the Council expressed the belief that a definite plan can be reported by the committee in details arranged, and the ordinance made effective by the first of next year, if not before.

Control Street Car Lines.—A strong argument for liberal annexation is advanced by the Chamber of Commerce in its suggestion that the city should control the routing and operation of suburban street car lines. The lines to most of the outlying sections were projected many years ago, and in some sections proper public service requires that they be rebuilt. Extension of the corporate limits also will give the city supervision over transfers and fares. The agreement under which the Seven Pines line was sold provides for transfers only within the corporate limits or as they may be extended. It is understood that people along that line are anxious for annexation in order that they may receive the benefit of transfer privileges.

Held as Suspicious Character.—Richard W. Colwell was arrested last night by Mounted Officer Angel on the charge of being a suspicious character, suspected of having committed larceny.

Sunday Services In City Churches

At the Second Baptist Church Rev. Thomas Claggett Skinner, D. D., the pastor, will speak on the morning "The Eleventh Commandment." The subject will be "What Is a Christian?" The evening service at the church will be celebrated by the morning service.

At the Grace Street Baptist Church, Rev. C. C. Cox, of New Port News, will preach at both services. The pulpit at Grace Street Baptist Church will be filled by Rev. J. T. Watts.

Rev. George W. Kemper will preach this morning at the Life Avenue Christian Church on "Is Life Worth Living?" and to-night on "Crucified or Crowned—Which?" Mr. Kemper will also preach this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the regular service at the Washington Place Christian Church, Stop 15, Washington line. Taking as his subject, "The Pathos of the Cross," Rev. H. D. C. MacLachlan will preach at the regular service at the Seventh Street Christian Church to-day. At the night service his subject will be "The Godly Goddess and the Godly Goodness."

Regular services at First Church of Christ, Scientist, will be held this morning at 10 o'clock. The subject will be "The Doctrine of Atonement." Centenary Methodist Church, Rev. W. J. Young, D. D., will take for the morning sermon the subject, "A Saviour for All, or a Saviour for None." To-night he will preach on "Religious Deliverance."

POLL TAX RUSH ON AT PACE'S OFFICE

One Hundred and Twelve Added to List of Voters of Richmond Yesterday.

ONLY TWELVE DAYS MORE

Dinner to Be Tendered Canvassers at Jefferson To-Morrow Night.

Pay Your Poll Taxes

Only twelve more days in which to pay poll taxes in order to vote in any election, primary, or general, this year. One hundred and twelve paid yesterday. Five thousand men have promised to qualify. Don't go back on your word.

One hundred and twelve citizens were added to the list of qualified voters in Richmond yesterday. About one-fourth were young men who had recently come of age and who had never before qualified to take part in affairs of government. Of the remainder a surprising number were among men holding good positions—men of responsibility and standing in their sections—who frankly admitted that until their attention was called by the canvassers of the Young Men's Registration Committee they had not taken the trouble to qualify in years. Some middle-aged men had not voted at all since the new Constitution placed certain restrictions, more than ten years ago.

After three nights of faithful and efficient work, General Chairman Fairfax C. Jones gave his men a holiday last night. Those taking part in the campaign will be tendered a dinner at the Jefferson Hotel to-morrow night at 7 o'clock, when each of the twenty-two precinct captains will submit a detailed report showing the work done by his team and when several addresses will be made. The work will not be allowed to drag until May 3, the final date for the payment of poll taxes, has passed. Quite a number of cards were returned by the canvassers because the parties had moved to other sections of the city. New addresses will be supplied and the work followed up during this week. Fully 5,000 men have promised to qualify, and the committee expects every man to keep his word.

What Must Be Done.

Although the City Treasurer's office usually closes at 3 o'clock, City Treasurer Pace has given directions that the State side, where poll taxes are paid, will remain open until 5 o'clock daily. If you have already been assessed, it takes but a little time to pay the tax standing in your name, and if you don't want to pay other taxes at this time, you may pay the poll taxes only. Those who have not been assessed require a little more time. They must see the Commissioner of the Revenue, and that no man may be denied his ballot. Commissioner of the Revenue Tresnon announces that his office will be open until 7 P. M. hereafter.

Then there is the matter of registration. That is not so urgent, for one may register up to the day before the election. But the poll taxes must be paid six months prior to the general election, and a week from next Saturday.

Thanks Citizens.

The following statement was issued yesterday by General Chairman Jones, of the Young Men's Registration Committee:

"The Young Men's Registration Committee wishes to thank the citizens of Richmond for the splendid reception given them and the courteous attention they have received everywhere.

"The welcome everywhere was royal—such as only the people of Virginia know how to give. Instead of a labor it became a pleasure, until it was allowed, it will take the form of a demand for the amendment of the United States laws, so as to admit Japanese citizens to naturalization under penalty of a withdrawal from Washington of the Japanese ambassador.

"From the diplomatic standpoint here, therefore, the very present element of danger lies in the fact that in the hope of placating the element of the Japanese government may send its ambassador here something akin to an ultimatum. This might be delayed until the California Legislature has finally acted upon the pending legislation, and Governor Johnson has proved it, but if it should then come, probably if the precedents established by Italy in the Mafia cases are followed, it will take the form of a demand for the amendment of the United States laws, so as to admit Japanese citizens to naturalization under penalty of a withdrawal from Washington of the Japanese ambassador.

JOHNSON ASKED NOT TO SIGN ANY ALIEN LAND BILL

ing the treaty right of Americans who own land in Japan, was also an important factor in the negotiations which may be expected to follow the enactment of the California legislation.

Altogether, officials profess to have considerable material upon which to base a defense against a charge of non-observance of the treaty of 1910.

Pessimistic View Taken.—Outside of the White House and the State Department, where there still prevails a conviction that the California Legislature will be induced to make its projected alien landholding legislation proof against Japanese objection by bringing it into conformity with similar statutes in a number of the States of the Union, which have been operative for years, without protest, there is a disposition to take a pessimistic view of the outcome of this outburst of anti-Japanese feeling on the Pacific Coast. "Poslam" is fully expected that if this legislation is enacted in California, probably Oregon and Washington will fall into line with similar acts, claiming to suffer from the encroachments of Japanese though not in the same degree as California.

In diplomatic circles this feeling of apprehension is much in evidence, and several of the more prominent embassies and legations are by direct orders from their governments, the foreign offices advised by cable of every development of the situation in this country.

Reason for Interest.—One reason for this is the possible effect upon existing alliances between the great powers and Japan of a breach between the latter country and the United States that, as frankly admitted by eminent Japanese publicists, might easily lead to actual warfare.

A curious feature of the situation is the development of the fact that the Japanese government is by no means desirous of encouraging its subjects to emigrate to the United States or to expatriate themselves. Yet, having by the successful issue of two of the greatest wars of history, almost within a decade, forced themselves into the front rank of nations, the Japanese people are by no means willing to submit to what they regard as the indignity proposed to be put upon them by the California Legislature in re-enacting them below any other nationalities save the Chinese.

Filled with military ardor and suffering from this deep affront to their pride, the vast proportion of the Japanese population might easily sweep from power, if resisted in their demands, the present Cabinet, which holds office by the most slender of tenures.

Element of Danger. From the diplomatic standpoint here, therefore, the very present element of danger lies in the fact that in the hope of placating the element of the Japanese government may send its ambassador here something akin to an ultimatum. This might be delayed until the California Legislature has finally acted upon the pending legislation, and Governor Johnson has proved it, but if it should then come, probably if the precedents established by Italy in the Mafia cases are followed, it will take the form of a demand for the amendment of the United States laws, so as to admit Japanese citizens to naturalization under penalty of a withdrawal from Washington of the Japanese ambassador.
